OCCUPATION CONFERENCE OPENS FRIDAY

"The ingredients of a Christian vocation" were noted at a church occupations conference for high school boys here Friday evening by the Rev. Arthur L. Ruths, New York City, a foreign missions secretary of the United Lutheran Church.

Keynote speaker before 80 boys gathered at Gettysburg College, Rev. Mr. Ruths listed the ingredients as: A caller, someone being called, and being called for a purpose. He made two additional presentations today.

"One's use of life has a relation to what he thinks about the existence and the involvement in daily life of an Almighty, Holy God," the Lutheran official declared in his prepared remarks.

"How we use the years between the cradle and the casket is determined in large part by what we believe about God," he asserted.

The conference, which closes Sunday, is sponsored by the Central Pennsylvania Lutheran Synod for boys interested in careers in the ministry, medicine and social work, education and business.

"If I believe that the only thing in this old world which makes sense at all is the fact of a God Who undergirds human history. Who gave me life, Who is involved with the human family every step of the way, my life must count. It must make a significant contribution to God and man because God made it."

"Once you are gripped by this knowledge, the goal of your life will not be a Cadillac, a bulging bank account or a split-level house with chromium doorknobs."

"Since God—not gold and gadgets—is my motivation for working and serving, He would have me invest my precious life in something that will outlast," Rev. Ruths concluded.

OHIO YOUTHS HONOR FAMOUS 19TH REGIMENT

The phrase, "lest we forget" is meaningful to the young Alliance men who have reincarnated the Ohio Volunteer Infantry.

Friday afternoon, the re-activated 19th Infantry Volunteers from Alliance, Ohio, paid homage to their descendants and friends who fought in the Civil War by visiting the Ohio monument located opposite the National Cemetery entrance on Baltimore St.

The group presented Burgess and Mrs. Wilbur Plank with 19 red carnations and toured the Battlefield under the direction of guide Robert Fidler. Two members of the volunteers, Richard Thomas and Tim Gross, dressed in authentic Civil War Union uniforms, made the presentation.

Message From Mayor

The note with the flowers read: "To the mayor and citizens of Gettysburg From Mayor Dave Mainwaring, citizens and members of the 19th Infantry of Alliance, Ohio, the Carnation city of the world." Alliance is the city from which the carnation flower originated.

The group, under the supervision of Thomas Hamlin, a furniture store owner and manager, will leave Sunday morning for Ohio.

It was about a year ago when the youths of Alliance decided to reorganize the famed 19th OVI. They received a welcome and support when they turned to their local newspaper. After much drilling and finally being invited to various parades, they were accepted.

"America can take satisfaction in these young people who show reverence to those who have sacrificed for their country," Hamlin said.

TWO DRIVERS CHARGED

Two drivers have been charged by state police with driving with defective mufflers in informations of the Kremlins conducting widespread espionage while professing peace and accusing the West of aggressive acts.

The expulsion of Petr Y. Ezhov for spying, announced Friday, was the 12th ouster of a Soviet diplomat from the United States in 10 years.

Authorities said the expulsion was ordered after thorough evidence was collected against Ezhov, rather than being deliberately timed as a counterpunch to Moscow's propaganda on the downed American U-2 and RB47 reconnaissance planes.

Seven Yanks Expelled

They did not expect the Soviets to retaliate by booting out an American diplomat, although Moscow has expelled seven U. S. Embassy personnel on spy charges in the past decade.

Ezhov, like another Soviet diplomat since expelled, was reportedly undertaking his undercover activities in part during the time when Premier Nikita Khrushchev visited the United States last September as an honor guest.

The State Department said Ezhov, 39, a Soviet Embassy third secretary, was engaged for months in getting aerial photographs of American cities and defense installations.

The department gave this account in saying Ezhov, a press aide, "flagrantly abused his diplomatic status by engaging in espionage activity."

Ezhov paid a commercial photographer to take pictures of selected sites from a private plane. While under FBI surveillance, he gave the man more than a thousand dollars.

He also paid for flying lessons for the photographer and hinted the Soviets would buy him a plane so he could carry out further aerial reconnaissance.

Photos included pictures of U.S. Navy installations and what the department called "other intelligence targets," said to be mostly along the East Coast.

Officials declined to identify the flying photographer by name or nationality or say what action, if any, would be taken against him.

COURT OKAYS COURT HOUSE IMPROVEMENT PLANS FRIDAY

Judge W. C. Sheely on Friday signed an order giving court approval to plans of the Adams County commissioners for alterations and air conditioning of the main courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse.

The approval was in response to a petition by the county commissioners who have advertised for bids to be opened next Tuesday morning for the air conditioning work.

A special point was made in the petition to the court that the work is to be undertaken immediately and must be complete by Saturday, August 20, for the opening of the court term on the following Monday.

"Advisable, Desirable, Feasible"

The commissioners in their formal petition told the court they "deem it advisable, desirable and feasible to make alterations in the courthouse for the purpose of eliminating or substantially lessening the outside noises and interferences in the properly and orderly conduct of judicial business in the courthouse."

The petition also pointed out that the courthouse is located at a noisy, busy intersection which has a traffic light and as a result traffic noise is extensive. The commissioners further pointed out to the court that when windows are closed to keep out the noise, a "serious deficiency in ventilation results" so that the courtroom "becomes excessively warm in the summer time."

Fans Not Adequate

It was noted also that there is space in the basement for the installation of the air conditioning equipment which would make quiet and comfortable the 64x7-foot second-floor courtroom with its 20-foot high ceiling.

The court, whose officials have been well aware for many years of the conditions pointed out by the commissioners in their petition, ruled in the approval order it was not necessary to take the time and expense to call witnesses to establish the facts recited by the commissioners.

The court papers also pointed out that no major improvements have been made at the courthouse in recent years and that large window fans installed in the courtroom several years to improve ventilation have "not adequately solved the problem."

BROKEN LIGHT SHADE COSTS MAN OVER $200

A young South Mountain father who broke a South Penn Power Company electric street light shade was fined $25 plus some $55 costs Friday in Franklin County Court at Chambersburg.

Marvin Baker, 26, had been arrested by state police in connection with the incident. Trooper Raymond Hussack informed Judge Chauncey M. Deputy that residents of South Mountain are plagued by youths and young men who congregate after dark and create "a nuisance condition."

Baker said South Mountain young people have "nothing to do." "After they are 21 they go to taprooms for recreations, but the teen-agers have no place to go."

The court pointed out there are decent people who find decent ways to raise children and that there is plenty to do in the way of reading good books and in finding wholesome activity, for those who really want to do so.

District Attorney Jay L. Benedict Jr. stressed that a number of complaints have been made to him concerning a group of young men which acts as though it is "beyond the law."

He added that the complainants expressed fear of physical retribution and refuse to appear to give testimony.

The broken shade belonging to the power company has cost Baker $41 to date. He was unable to immediately raise $80 for his combined fine and costs. The court placed him in custody of the sheriff pending payment.

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Strawberry farmer L. E. Garrison realized a life's ambition this spring:

He had a one-strawberry shortcake. The strawberry, which weighed one-fourth pound, was grown in his backyard.

THIN HEELS GIVE GIRLS SLAVE LOOK

NEW YORK (AP)—American women, says Broadway show man Lawrence Langner, are toeing their way back into a look of slavery.

"The most absurd article of feminine wear these days are those long, pointed shoes and spiked heels," comments the man who recently wrote a documentary volume on human garb entitled "The Importance of Wearing Clothes."

Langner found his research cogent because "the theater has been influencing fashions for bad as well as good for a long time." His protest against milady's current footwear goes like this: "Women spend 25 years finding a shoe they could walk comfortably in. The purpose of these new fashions is to make it difficult for women to walk around."

Throwback To Binding
"That's a throwback to the days when women had no status and binding the feet was done to make it difficult for them to move freely."

"Of course, the feminine kind of woman wants to feel helpless. And that's nonsense, because they are a lot better equipped to protect themselves than men."

The male population also comes in for Langner criticism. He says the damsels are willing to splurge on new looks, but men still wear, virtually unchanged, the clothes they adopted 150 years ago with arrival of the Industrial Revolution.

Resistance By Males
"The male resistance is extraordinary," the co-founder of the Theater Guild notes. "It hasn't anything to do with conforming—it is simply that clothing has always been the sign of status."

"Today's man wants to show his power and authority in the world and that he belongs to the ruling class."

Langner estimates that 400 million buttons are uselessly sewed on men's jackets annually just because of tradition.

"If you could get 100 men to wear something different you could bring change—but you never will."

Neckties Praised
Neckties to him are the male's "last bit of individuality in clothes. I'd never want to give them up."

When he tarted putting his book together, Langner says he was "amazed at how little research has been done on the history of clothing and the major importance of dress in the development of mankind."

Garb is bringing a transition in Russia today, he insists. "When you have fashions in a country, there's no such thing as classless society," he says. "Khrushchev gets his clothes from Italy. That's a beginning. Soon you will have classes in Russia the same as in other parts of the world."

Parakeet Reveals Clandestine Secret

TAMPS, Fla. (AP)—A census taker learned the secret of a housewife accused by neighbors of entertaining a clandestine lover.

He had been told that a male voice was heard in the housewife's home at night. As the census taker was about to leave the housewife's home, a masculine voice boomed from the kitchen.

"Breakfast is ready honey," "My parakeet," explained the woman.

Road Builders Find Civil War Bullets

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—The road-widening project on East Bank Street here has nothing to do with the Civil War Centennial, but the road builders have plenty of ammunition.

They uncovered 30 shells from six to 18 inches in length, apparently left by Union forces who ringed the city in the Siege of Petersburg. Army officials said the shells probably are still dangerous.

WESTERNER'S WIFE DECRIES TV GUNPLAY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There's too much gunplay in television westerns, says Mrs. Bill Tilghman, 80, whose husband was among the greatest peace officers of the frontier.

As a gunman Tilghman ranked with such men as Bat Masterson and Wyatt Earp, his colleagues in early law enforcement days at Dodge City. In a long, distinguished career as a lawman during a rugged era, Tilghman often lived by his gun.

And it was by the gun that he died at the age of 72 — shot by a man he was trying to arrest.

Even so says his wife of 21 years, TV's westerns over-emphasize the shoot-'em-up business.

"It lacks a long way of being history," she says, but concedes there's "a certain amount of accuracy in setting" portrayed.

Genuinely Tough
Tilghman, his wife recalls, was genuinely tough when necessary, but was a far cry from some of the lawmen on film.

Adept with either hand, he packed just one sixshooter — two were too heavy.

"Bill was a high class detective, using methods like those of the FBI nowadays," Mrs. Tilghman says. "None of the others was."

He's given much of the credit for breaking up outlaw gangs that overran Oklahoma in the 1890s. Singlehanded he took in Bill Doolin, a gangleader who swore he wouldn't be taken alive — by beating Doolin to the draw. Tilghman was alone, too, when he captured Doolin's lieutenant, Little Bill Raider. He outshot Raider with a double-barreled shotgun.

Served In Senate

He didn't rest with being a peace officer. He served in the Oklahoma senate was active in the statehood movement and Democratic politics, helped organize the first state fair and was an aide to many governors. His thoroughbred mares included the 1894 Kentucky Derby winner, Chant.

"He was a Christian gentleman," his wife says, "quiet, kindly, greatly respected and loved. He was especially fond of children."

Mrs. Tilghman may see some of her ideas on western lawmen applied to TV. She helped dramatize and narrate an incident about her husband for "Death Valley Days."

NO DREAM — REAL THING

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — One night Edward Dacey, architectural draftsman, thought he dreamed that he saw someone sitting on his bedroom dresser. It wasn't a dream he learned a few days later when a burglar took police around to six LaJolla homes he had entered. One of them was Dacey's. He had sat on the bureau while he smoked a cigarette.

WRONG SUBJECT

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—A University of Oklahoma student went to the library and asked for some information on euthanasia, or mercy killings.

LAMUMBA WILL SEEK AMERICAN ECONOMIC AID

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Premier Patrice Lumumba was flying to the United States today to seek aid for the Congo as the Communists and Western business interests raced to get a foothold in developing the new nation's economy.

While shopping around for American capital and more technical aid, Lumumba is also expected to review the explosive military situation in the Congo with United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Hammarskjöld canceled plans to leave Sunday for the Congo where the U.N. has been funneling in a police force and announced he would remain in New York to see Lumumba.

Still Danger

Lumumba has been busy bolstering his nation's economy, but its political status remained dangerously unsettled.

Before leaving Leopoldville, Lumumba signed a 50-year agreement with an American financier to develop his country's mineral and power resources worth an estimated two billion dollars. He also got bids from the Soviet Union and Communist East Germany to help build his nation's economy.

The Premier had two thorny problems to review with Hammarskjöld: withdrawal of Belgian forces from the Congo and the future of the rich Katanga province. The Katanga Assembly has proclaimed itself an independent republic, but the Lumumba government refuses to recognize the secession.

Violence Flares

Violence flared Friday near a Katanga mining center. Belgian airborne troops fought Congolese mutineers. A Belgian spokesman said about 16 Congolese and two Belgians were killed and many wounded.

The U.N. is faced with a problem of its own over interpretation of two Security Council resolutions calling for removal of Belgian forces.

Both Hammarskjöld and the Council have been speaking in terms of a Belgian pullout from Congo territory, but Belgian officials insist the resolutions do not include Belgian military bases at Katanga and Kamina held by treaty. Hammarskjöld plans to fly to the Congo after his talks with Lumumba — probably Tuesday night. His main task is to determine whether the growing U.N. peace force is strong enough to keep order, and if so, arrange for the complete withdrawal of Belgian forces.

JAIL HIT-RUN CASE SUSPECT

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A Philadelphia man was being held without bail today pending extradition proceedings by New Jersey authorities who have accused him of a hit-run motor vehicle death.

Carl Tomasetti, 30, was arrested Friday after New Jersey police said he was the man they wanted in the death of Frederick Glosser, 19, son of the Washington, N. J., police chief.

Lt. Herbert Mooney of Abington police said Tomasetti refused to make a formal statement but did admit being in the vicinity when Glosser was struck down last Sunday.

Tomasetti is a driver for a swimming pool concern in Abington. Witnesses to the accident did admit being in the vicinity when Glosser was struck down last Sunday.

Tomasetti is a driver for a swimming pool concern in Abington. Witnesses to the accident said the truck that hit Glosser bore a swimming pool inscription on its body.

With this as their man clue, police narrowed their search to the Abington area and arrested Tomasetti late Friday.

The area of Maryland is 10,577 square miles, of which 690 square miles are inland water surface.

"THE OUTDOOR MAN"

He's a man who likes to roam the woods . . . when time permits him to . . . for he knows that there is happiness . . . neath skies of azure blue . . . you can find him by a singing stream . . . or beneath a shady tree . . . for he knows beyond all knowing . . . that the best of life is free . . . some say he's an idle dreamer . . . this, I do not believe . . . for the smile upon his sun-kissed face . . . leaves little to perceive . . . it tells me he has found the way . . . to detour wordly strife . . . the outdoor man really knows how . . . to get the best from life.

Ambush Couple; Flee With $1,500

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Three men hiding in the darkness of a suburban Wynnefield home ambushed its occupants and took $1,500 from them early today.

Michael Kaplan, 55, was struck across the face with a gun after the money was taken from him. He and his wife, Ruth, 54, were bound and gagged by the robbers. Kaplan told police he and his wife had returned from Berlin, N. J., where they operate a shoe store, about 12:50 a. m. He said that as he turned on the lights in the house he saw the three men, all wearing masks. One was holding a pistol.

Kaplan said the men took a shoe box containing receipts and also demanded his wallet.

Police said the home had not been ransacked and it appeared the robbers knew Kaplan would be carrying a considerable sum with him.

Diplomats Oppose Early Arms Meet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States ran into opposition today in its bid for a meeting of the U. N. Disarmament Commission "early in August."

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Friday asked the chairman of the 82-nation commission, Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico, to call the early session. Some diplomats said the United States wanted a meeting Aug. 5.

Lodge said the commission should discuss the breakdown of the 10-nation East-West disarmament talks in Geneva June 27 when the Communist side walked out.

One key delegate told a reporter he had talked with 20 colleagues and found that none was in favor of meeting before the end of August. He said delegations needed time to consult their governments.

There are over 63 million women (14 and over) in the U. S. who make or influence 85% of all consumer purchases. To sell this tremendous and ever growing market, national advertisers last year invested more than $719 million in newspapers.

OPEN CENTER

The Rev. C. Reynolds Simmons have assisted with arrangements. The new day care center program in this county is one of five being conducted in Pennsylvania this summer through federal funds. The others are Franklin, Chester, Northumberland and Snyder Counties.

Center Here Requested

Adams County was authorized as a site for a center because of a request from the Adams County Council of Community Services and the Council of Churches, the social worker for the new school announced. Centers can be established by the state only on request.

Miss Curtis said the center will enlist the aid of other agencies in the county in its operation. State nurses will cooperate in providing physical examinations for the children and giving "shots" against various diseases. One of the principal values of the center, she said, is in providing such health services and uncovering disease. Where needed, hospitalization work is carried out in connection with the local hospital.

Because parents are not required to send their children to the center and do so only on their own volition, not more than 25 of the approximately 150 children of migrant laborers in the county are expected to attend the school.

The program is carried out through the Department of Welfare of the state in cooperation with the Pennsylvania State University which has the job, on contract with the department, of setting up and staffing the centers.

children. The remainder of the week will be spent on creative crafts including clay modeling and paper cutting. On Thursday they will make tie holders.

The Fourth St. totol plans call for Parent Week next week. Things will be made each day for the parents and on Thursday parents will be invited to visit. There will be a movie Friday.

The totol at the Rec Field will have "Odds and Ends Week" and necktie holders will be made. On Wednesday there will be a stuffed animal pet show.

133 Musicians

With 133 taking part in the instrumental music program this week, it was announced that the sixth grade band group will continue its practice and study of marching fundamentals while the fifth grade band is working on preparation of music for a possible concert. Pre-band groups will continue to concentrate on fundamentals including time, tone, extending their range and fingering. Other ensemble groups will continue to play together. The elementary clarinet group will work next week on alternate fingering and chromatic scales. Drums will continue drills on five, nine and long rolls. Any persons who have not yet reported for drum class may report on Tuesday at 9:45 a. m.

Arts and crafts work next week will include raffia and the boys and girls are asked to bring bottles and jars in order to cover them.

Fifty-two took part in the tennis program this week and it is announced plans are being made for a tennis demonstration consisting of several outstanding players of the Hanover, York and Gettysburg area. The demonstration will consist of a singles and doubles match.

The basketball schedule for next week at the Rec Park follows: Monday, Senior Rec League; Tuesday, Junior Rec League; Wednesday, Senior League and Thursday, the Junior League.

The Bahrain Islands east of Saudi Arabia are an independent sheikdom. Petroleum concessions are held equally by Standard Oil of California and the Texas Co.

Today's Talk

AFTER YOU ARE FORTY
A man's greatest creative work should be done after he is forty. Before that he is but laying a foundation for the structure which shall be indicative of all that he is able to be.

It is significant that the majority who have not built a strong foundation by the time they are forty are the ones to whom failure and disappointment come. Some of the most successful men—indeed probably a majority—do not attain great renown until after that age. But they are at school and at work before that.

There is a feeling among many that if they are earning well and having a good time at work and there, they have little worry about. But statistics show that these same men ten years later are the ones who are regretting and complaining of their lot and—ten years later—probably largely dependent upon others. The time to build and to save is before you are forty!

Then with your ripened knowledge and experience you may expand, grow and enjoy as well. The time for rest is when your work is finished—speaking in the figurative sense. Though to the real producer, his work is never finished!

Have an account at some bank to which you keep adding something regularly. Take systematic exercise every day. Get your full eight hours of sleep—and go to it unworried. Read, absorb, have sound friends and keep them. And keep educating your heart all the time.

Then from forty on, you will be worth while to the world—and to yourself.

Just Folks

THE FROWN
If the frown on your face is a sign of great care
Or a burden that's really too heavy to bear,
Well and good, let it stay;
But if it's a sign of a trivial loss,
Of the common disturbance and every-day cross,
Quickly chase it away.If the glum look you wear is a sign of great woe,
Of a grief that is aching and hurting you so,
Let it linger awhile;
But if it is there for some trivial wrong,
Some every-day setback that's happened along,
Why not cling to your smile?

Eastern League

Timely hitting and clutch relief pitching have halted Binghamton's skid toward the Eastern League cellar and at the same time have slowed league leading Williamsport's drive for the pennant. The fifth place Triplets swept a doubleheader from Williamsport Friday night, 2-1 and 4-2, while Alton edged Lancaster 2-1 in the only other league action. Springfield and Reading had a breather.

Dick Carter's seventh inning triple scored Binghamton relief pitcher Bruce Swango, who had walked, with the winning run in the opener. Swango got credit for the victory by pitching two scoreless innings.

Clouts 19th Homer
In the nightcap, Don Lock's 19th home run, with a man on base, and another circuit clout by Al Hall were all that Binghamton needed. A sacrifice fly by Carter brought in pitcher Len Ferguson with an insurance run. Ferguson tired in the ninth but was pulled out of trouble by Stan Horvath. Guido Crilli's six-hitter led Alton to its victory over Lancaster. He gave up three of the safeties in the first inning when Alton scored its lone run. Pete Jernigan, who had three singles, drove in the tying run in the first inning and scored the winning run in the fourth on Bob Fidler's single.Final White House Conference

POLICE CHIEF
RESIGNS POST

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A man who jumped from patrolman to police inspector in 1953, took over today as commissioner of Philadelphia's 6,000-man police department.

Albert N. Brown, 48, was sworn in Friday only minutes after Mayor Richardson Dilworth announced at a news conference that Thomas J. Gibbons had resigned.

Gibbons, in a statement released by Dilworth, said he resigned "with much regret, but I am compelled to do so in view of domestic problems and the current state of my health."

Gibbons, 57, had been commissioner since 1952. He had played a large part in training Brown, who had been deputy commissioner since 1954.

Chief Detective Quits
At almost the same time, Dist. Atty. Victor H. Blanc announced the resignation of another top police officer: Thomas F. McDermott, 58-year-old chief of Philadelphia County detectives for the past four years.

McDermott, who was directly responsible to Blanc, said he was resigning because of a back injury that might do permanent damage to his health if he continued in his job.

McDermott had been criticized recently by the city controller's office for his expense accounts. This week he returned $517.55 he had drawn for a 27-day trip to California to bring back a fugitive from justice.

In accepting the resignation, Blanc said, "It is a pity that because of a serious mistake in judgment the city must now lose the services of this splendid police officer."

Blanc appointed Francis S. Lederer, 33, acting chief of county detectives.

Sues For Divorce
Gibbons did not state the nature of his ill health or his domestic problems. Recently, however, he brought a divorce action against his wife, from whom he is separated.

Gibbons has received high praise for rebuilding and reforming the police department. He had gone to Chicago earlier this year for interviews when that city was looking for a commissioner for its allegedly graft-ridden police department. He came home, however, saying that Dilworth had insisted he remain here.

And Friday the mayor said he had tried to stop Gibbons from resigning, even as late as a few hours before the press conference. Brown joined the force in 1942 and was still a patrolman—and president of the Fraternal Order of Police—in December, 1953, when he took tests for inspector. His marks were near the top.

DEMOCRATS IN PARADISE
FDR, Woodrow Wilson and Al Smith
Receive Bryan's Report On LA ConventionBy JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.
President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

IN PARADISE, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Al Smith and Woodrow Wilson were sitting on the alabaster veranda of the American Statesmen's Club. In silence they gazed idly across the Elysian Fields, which were tinted by the indirect, glareless glow of the gorgeous, celestial afternoon. An aristocratic appearing person, with short, curly hair, handsome Greek features and attired in a flowing robe, strolled by.

AL SMITH: You educated gents don't know him, but I'm betting you dollars to doughnuts that guy is Plato.

F.D.R. (with a mild smirk): And when did you begin hating friends with diplomas from Harvard and Johns Hopkins?

AL: It would not hurt even a Harvardian to go over to the Elysian Fields Academus and listen to a few lectures first hand from Old Plato. He puts everything right on the line.

WOODROW WILSON (in low tone): I'll call your bet, (raising his voice) Good afternoon, Professor, would you care to join us?

STRANGER: Just call me Plato. You young gentlemen appear to be waiting for someone, hence I shall not tarry long.

F.D.R. (impressed, and whispering to Al): More than a philosopher. He's a mind reader!

WOODROW: Yes, Mr. William Jennings Bryan should be back from Earth shortly. He has been attending the Los Angeles Democratic Convention on a haunting permit.

PLATO: Naturally, but when you young gentlemen have been Up Here as long as I, you will have gotten over pestering the Ghost Control Authority for such permits. For keeping abreast of the times, as well as checking earthly versions of history, I commend to you the Recording Angel Archives in the East Wing of the Celestial Library.

Bryan Was Interested
F.D.R.: But Bill Bryan had a personal interest in this convention.

AL: Yes, Bill has had to take a lot of banter from the boys around the Club on the probability of Adlai Stevenson Jr. breaking his record of getting the party's nod three times in succession. Bill missed the trick, you know, back in 1904, and had to wait till 1908 for a third nod.

WOODROW: Three nominations is the American top record for a nonwinner, but three in a row for Old Adlai's grandson would make the younger Stevenson one-up on Bill. Actually, I think Bill has been getting nervous. He never liked Old Adlai anyway.

"Swish Of Wings"
At this moment there was the shrill swish of wings nearing the bottom of a deep dive. Letter To The Editor

R. 4
Gettysburg, PaDear Editor
The enclosed article appeared in The Pittsburgh Press (July 15, 1960). This is my former home town paper.

I left Pittsburgh in 1951 to come to the Gettysburg area. I have always had respect and reverence for anything pertaining to Gettysburg. Many of my ancestors settled in Adams County and over the many years I have had many relatives come and go in this county.

All my life I have heard stories handed down in regards to the historic background of Adams County particularly in reference to the Civil War as it was fought in Gettysburg.

I was unprepared for the smorgasbord of souvenirs made primarily in Japan that I saw displayed in the shops and museums.

I have never received any logical answer to the souvenirs made in Japan and their relation to our historic shrine. I did inquire and did receive two explanations.

First, we give the souvenir business to Japan to promote a good neighbor policy. An off beat answer in my books. I was also informed that it is cheaper to have them made in Japan as a greater profit can be realized when they are sold here. To this answer my only comment is "What Price Glory?"

I was born in this county and am very proud of its historic background. Some of the questions I have had to answer when friends have visited Gettysburg are not simple to answer. The their rooms that night? Then we would know the answer.

BRYAN: I was too busy haunting the Symington headquarters. I was sure he was next up. The TV announcers scooped me.

AL: Let's ask Plato to show us how to look things up in the Recording Angel Archives. Then we can read the plain, exact truth.

PLATO: But in the Recording Angel Archives, everything is classified top secret for the first hundred years. Immediate opening of the records would create dissension in Paradise. Up Here, you young gentlemen will have to cultivate patience.

F.D.R.: Why didn't you haunt question asked by the child in the enclosed item makes me wonder just what explanation to give as I can't honestly see any tie-in with the very tragic battle fought here and the souvenirs made in Japan.

I realize that souvenirs are big business in shrine and resort towns. I do not think we should ever confuse a shrine with a playground and create graven images of it.

Very Sincerely
FLO E. WOOMEY

Editor's Note: The article referred to in the opening paragraph of this letter told of buying souvenirs in Gettysburg labeled "Made In Japan."

Dillsburg Takes Area LL Title By Blasting Local All Stars 15-11

The Gettysburg Little League All-Stars were completely bulldozed from any further tournament play as Dillsburg blasted out a 15-11 win over the local contingent Friday evening on the winner's diamond to take the Area III title in District 14. Dillsburg will play the winner of Area I-Area II game next Friday at Newville in the district tournament.

Five hits, four errors and four walks contributed to Dillsburg's big 12 runs in the third inning which was enough to give the home team a substantial lead to work with and the margin of victory. In the third Barry Zeigler clouted a three-run homer over the centerfield fence to climax the frame.

Gettysburg put up a fine comeback rally in the fifth by scoring six times and cutting their opponents' lead to 13-10. Phil Asper, playing rightfield, got the big hit in the inning with a three-run blast over the centerfield wall.

Dillsburg took a 1-0 lead in the first frame on a walk, an unsuccessful fielder's choice and two wild pitches allowing lead-off batter Gerry Fleming to score. Gettysburg knotted the count in the top of the second when Pete Nelson tagged his second home-run of the playoffs over the right-field fence.

Heiser Hits Homer
Manager Bob Signor's outfit moved ahead in the third with three more tallies. Ron Newman drew a walk, Ron Redding was hit by a pitched ball and Johnny Heiser followed with the third three-run four-bagger to deep left-field.

Dillsburg went on to score two more runs in the bottom of the fifth on pitcher Carl Rosenberg's homerun over the left-centerfield fence with one mate aboard. Gettysburg's final attempt to capture the lead in the sixth fell far short of its mark as Heiser banged a single to left, went to second on a wild pitch and tallied on Mike Herring's single to right.

Carl Rosenberg, pitching effectively against the local outfit, went the distance to capture the win. Pete Nelson started for Gettysburg but was lifted in the third when Chris Richardson took the mound. Nelson is the loser. Heiser was the game's top hitter with three hits for four trips to the plate. Mike Herring and Nelson each collected a pair of safeties. Fleming and Rosenberg punched a pair of hits each for the winners.

The Gettysburg Little League will resume its regular season Tuesday evening with a double-header and will follow with two games each evening thereafter. On Tuesday the Bream's vs. Moose on the Little League diamond and the National Bank meets the Rotary on the third field at the Rec Park.

2-Time Champion Leads Open Field

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Mickey Wright was the heavy favorite to win the National Women's Open Golf Tourney today as it entered its trying, 36-hole final round at the Worcester Country Club.

The San Diego, Calif., miss posted her second straight open-par 71 Friday — for a half-way mark of 142-in her quest for an unprecedented third straight Open title. The only other strong contender, Marilyn Smith of French Lick, Ind., posted scores of 72-72-144.

Miss Wright held a five-stroke lead over the third-place entry—veteran Mary Lena Faulk of Sea Island, Ga. Parired one stroke in back of Miss Faulk at 146 were Kathy Whitworth of Jal, N.M., and Marlene Bauer Hager of Crystal River, Fla.

PIRATES WHIP GIANTS 4-1; BRAVES LOSE

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Yep, those Pittsburgh Pirates really were falling apart. They lost five of seven and their National League lead was chopped to a mere half-game over the Milwaukee Braves. But now, the Bucs are booming again, padding their lead to 2½ games once more.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, shaky, but tough when things got rough, pitched the Pirates to a 4-1 victory at San Francisco Friday night. It was their second straight after that slump that followed the All-Star game break.

The Braves, after winning seven straight, dropped their second in succession, just barely missing with late home-run power in an 8-7 loss at Chicago to the last-place Cubs.

Dodgers in Third
Los Angeles regained third place by beating Philadelphia 2-0 behind the four-hit, 14-strikeout pitching of right-hander Don Drysdale. St. Louis, just one percentage point behind the Dodgers, defeated Cincinnati 8-3 as Curt Simmons pitched his first complete game since 1958.

Three runs in the fifth inning, capped by Bob Skinner's two-out, two-run single, brought the Pirates from behind. Willie Mays hit his 19th home run for the Giants in the first inning, but Mizell (6-5) then blanked them on eight hits.

Wins First Shutout
Drysdale (8-10) tied the NL strikeout high for nine innings this season—fanning the last six men he faced—for his fourth straight victory and first shutout. Frank Howard's bases empty home run, his 15th, beat Gene Conley (6-6) in the second inning.

Simmons, the southpaw who was released by the Phils, gained a 2-0 record with his first complete game in nine starts since Sept. 1, 1958. He allowed six hits including homers, by Frank Robinson and Willie Jones. The Cards scored three in the first, climaxed by Daryl Spencer's 12th home run, and then won it with two more in the third.

Rookie Ron Santo was 3-for-4 and drove in three runs for the Cubs, tagging relief pitcher Joey Jay for the clinching run with a solo homer, his second, in the seventh inning.

ROY SIEVERS IS CREDITED WITH SOX LEAP

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Ask any member of the Chicago White Sox who has been most responsible for their sweeping comeback that has them within three percentage points of the top in the American League and the reply is "Roy Sievers."

"That guy has been a life saver for us," said pinch-hitting expert Earl Torgeson. "He may not be our big man but he's the key man. We'll win this thing if nothing happens to him."

"Sievers has been the difference," said second baseman Nellie Fox. "The guy has given the club a big lift. I don't know how many games he's won for us, but it looks like he wins one every other day for us."

"I run, He Swing"
"That man ees great," said Minnie Minoos in his broken English. "I know every time I get on base, he drive me in. Sure thing, I run, he swing, I score. So easy."

Sievers rapped two of Chicago's 18 hits Friday night and drove in a run in the White Sox' 11-5 romp over the New York Yankees.

Sievers, who established a high for the league by hitting safely in 21 straight games recently, now has hit in 23 of his last 24 games, collecting 37 hits in 91 times at bat for a .406 mark to raise his average from .241 to .303. He has driven in 28 runs in those games. The White Sox won 18 of them to climb from fifth place to a virtual tie with the Yankees for first.

HEBERT LEADS GOLF TOURNEY; PALMER FOLDS

By FRITZ HOWELL
AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer is going to have to come from behind — as he did in the Masters and National Open, and didn't in the British Open — if he's going to win the 42nd PGA championship.

Proving that even the best can get the worst of it at times, the year's leading money winner ($66,000) from Ligonier, Pa., carved out a startling 74 in Friday's second round to surrender the lead his opening 67 had given him.

Out front as 95 survivors of the cutoff (at scores of 151) went into today's third round was Jay Hebert (the pronounces it ay-beer), from the baysous of Lafayette, La.

Jay, 37, whose younger brother Lionel won this fixture in 1957 when it was a man-to-man combat instead of medal play, had five birdies and two bogeys for the day's best round of 67 and a two-day total of 139, one under par.

Palmer Collapses
Palmer's unexpected collapse on the front nine left him in a three-way tie at 141 with three-time Champion Sam Snead, who had a second-round 73, and Doug Sanders, Miami Beach, Fla., who had 70-71. Between them and the leader was Don January, the Dallas hotshot, who put together a pair of 70s.

Hebert fired his round early and let the others worry in the 90-degree temperature the rest of the day. Only Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., was able to ship par in the late going, over the windy, dried-out, 7,165-yard Firestone Country Club course, and his 69 put him in a three-way deadlock at 142 with Ken Venturi, Palo Alto, Calif., and John O'Donnell, Baltimore.

Picnic For Pros
Although only six sub par scores have been fired in two rounds by 185 of the country's finest, the first two days were a picnic for the pros. With the field cut to the low 90s, the PGA committee hauled out the pipe wrenches to day and tightened up the long layout for the stretch drive.

Markers are on the back of all tees, adding as much as 30 yards in some cases, and players have to peek at the flag across the corner of a trap, or seek it in some far corner.

The awesome challenge of this, mighty remade course is no myth. Ben Hogan, who just seven years ago won the U. S. and British opens and the Masters in a single year, hasn't scored a birdie in 36 holes of trying here.

"I can't remember when that happened to me before. I don't believe it ever did," Hogan said.

BIG LITTLE BALL LEAGUE

The Eagles, regular season champions, earned the right to play in the finals of the Big Little League playoffs as they bombed the Aero Oil 15-1 Friday evening at the Recreation Field.

The Eagles moved so quickly in the first three frames that the contest was called at the end of three and a half innings.

On Monday the Elks and Legion will tangle in the second final contest at 6 p.m. with the winner meeting the Eagles on Wednesday evening.

Doubles — Pinson, Cincinnati, 25; Cunningham, St. Louis, 23. Triples — Pinson, Cincinnati and White, St. Louis, 8; Bruton, Milwaukee and Kirkland, San Francisco, 7.

Home runs — Banks, Chicago and Aaron, Milwaukee, 27; Mathews, Milwaukee and Boyer, St. Louis, 20.

Stolen bases — Pinson, Cincinnati and Mays, San Francisco, 20; Willis, Los Angeles, 17.

Pitching (based on 7 or more decisions) — Williams, Los Angeles, 9-2, 818; Roebuck, Los Angeles, 8-2, 800.

UPPER ADAMS LITTLE LEAGUE

Only two games were played Friday evening, the Braves-Yankees game at Bendersville having been postponed by mutual agreement.

At Biglerville the Red Sox overcame a 5-1 deficit with three runs in each of the third and fourth innings to take a 7-5 decision from the Phillies in a well-played game. The Phillies secured but five hits, with Joe Sunbury accounting for three on a triple and a pair of singles.

Score by innings:
Red Sox 013 300-7-11-1
Phillies 140 000-5-5-2

Batteries: Red Sox, R. Heller, L. Eckenrode and Miller; Phillies, Guise, Taylor, Brown, Coulson and Sunbury.

The Pirates led all the way in crushing the Cardinals 13-3 at Ardenstville as a flock of bases on balls contributed heavily to the scoring.

Score by innings:
Pirates 240 205-13
Cardinals 100 002-3

Batteries: Pirates, Dave Funt and Mike Kane; Cardinals, Bobby Wilkinson, Richard Stover, Jeff Tuckey and Stover.

Sleichter Second At Fountain Head

Dick Sleichter, professional at the Gettysburg Country Club, finished second in the Middle Atlantic PGA Pro-Lady golf tournament at Fountain Head Country Club, Hagerstown, Friday. He fired a 69 while Dick Mullen, Beaver Creek Club pro, took the honors with a 68.

Sleichter and his wife tied for first place in the best ball play with a 64. Mrs. Glenn L. Bream and Sleichter turned in a 67 and Mrs. Harner, of the host club, teamed with Sleichter for another 67.

Jockey Wins Four At Shenandoah

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. — Jockey Larry Reynolds made a strong move for riding honors at Shenandoah Downs Friday night, riding four winners to move into second place in jockey standings. Reynolds wound up the evening with 12 victories, tied for second with Linwood Weakley and one behind Joe Servis who was shut out Friday night. It was the first time this year that a jockey had ridden four at Shenandoah.

The night track is looking for new betting and attendance marks tonight with the second race in the Valley Endurance Series listed as the feature with a field of 10. Parker E. Graves' Fire Moon and Arthur W. Romano's Peregrinator, head the field.

A crowd of 7,294 bet a new Friday high of $344,862 on last night's program, making the 16th straight night that Shenandoah had set a betting mark.

Bonanza payoff was the second smallest of the meeting when 18 fans picked five winners to collect $752.40 each. The Little Bonanza went 173 ways on four winners worth $33.40. The total pool was $22,496, a new record for Friday.

Hot Weather Comfort Will Boost Dairy And Egg Take

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

Dairymen should be as considerate of their cows' comfort during hot summer days as they are of their own comfort.

A little extra care will help prevent the usual hot weather slump in milk production, and the accompanying reduction of fat content.

These practices to help dairymen realize more profit from dairying in summer.

Plenty Of Shade

Provide plenty of shade. If trees are not available a cheap shelter will serve the purpose and pay dividends. On farms where zero grazing is practiced, cows will eat more chopped grass if feed bunks or self-feeding wagons are located in the shade.

Supply cool, clean water at easily reached places. Don't force cows to go long without water. On the average a cow needs 12 to 15 gallons of water a day. In hot weather they may drink as much as 80 per cent more.

Feed good hay on pasture all the time, and locate the feed rack out of the sun.

Spray Program

Flies and other tormenting insects cause much irritation and unrest in dairy herds. Follow a good regular spray control program and cows will be quieter and more contented.

Since cows don't graze much during the heat of the day make the best pasture available at night when most grazing is done.

In order to provide constant new pasture growth, clip and rotate pastures regularly.

"If a cow can lie down in comfort and contentment with a full stomach during the hot summer months, she'll repay you for your efforts."

Poultry Problems

Summer temperatures of 85 and 90 degrees make chickens uncomfortable, and because of this, egg production is lowered and smaller eggs are laid. Egg shells also become thinner and are easily broken.

When heat makes chickens uncomfortable, they stand around panting, and hold their wings away from their bodies. They also spend more time at the fountains drinking water to try to lower body temperature.

Poultrymen are urged to open up the front and rear of the house as much as possible to provide cross ventilation. Some poultrymen use fans for better air circulation, and others put a lawn sprinkler on the roof during the hottest part of the day. Some also coat the roof with lime, or any white material, to reflect heat.

Plant Vegetables

July is still planting season for Pennsylvania home gardeners. You can keep your garden working full time until frost. You can still plant root crops, and leafy vegetables such as lettuce, kale, endive, spinach, cabbage, and Chinese cabbage.

Carrots will make a crop if planted soon. The seeds germinate slowly so the rows should be marked by mixing a few radish seeds with the carrots. Sprouting radishes will designate the rows and prevent damage when you run the wheel hoe through the garden. Don't sow too many radish seeds as markers or the carrots will have too much competition.

Chinese cabbage is a good fall crop. If it's harvested before freezing weather, it will keep a month or two in a vegetable cellar. Endive and kale are excellent greens or salad ingredients. Tie endive leaves together in mid-October so the centers will bleach for several weeks.

You can leave kale in the garden all winter if you protect it from rabbits; they appreciate its store of vitamins, too!

Skipper Admits Dangerous Speed

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A destroyer skipper says he was traveling at 20 knots—in a fog where visibility was 300 yards—when another destroyer loomed suddenly ahead of him.

The two collided and 11 sailors died.

Cmdr. Albert Ford acknowledged at a naval court of inquiry Thursday that even under ideal conditions it would take 500 yards to stop his ship, the USS Collett.

Ford said the Collett was on test speed runs when it collided with the USS Ammen off the Southern California coast.

Radarmen couldn't give any reason why the Ammen wasn't sighted earlier, but pointed out that equipment was newly installed and crews weren't used to it yet.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Stephen West, 9, didn't want to take a bath Thursday night. He hid behind the tub.

His mother, Hazel West, said Stephen became stuck between the tub and the wall.

It took firemen, using portable jacks, several minutes to free him.

RURAL VOTING MAY BE HINGE IN ELECTION

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Democratic presidential campaign in Pennsylvania this fall will buck an ages-old antipathy between rural and urban interests.

The attitude is based on economics and a fear in rural areas of loss of political identity.

Those two factors are far stronger in the voting history of the rural regions that antique religious bigotry which some politicians feel could hurt the presidential aspirations of Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Hand In Hand

Economics and politics go hand-in-hand in Pennsylvania's rural regions. Though representing only a third of the state's population, the rural areas control more than half of the legislative seats.

Since they are predominantly Republican, that means a GOP-controlled Senate and a narrow margin in the Democratic-controlled House.

Political control means a large measure of economic control over such things as taxation, school and road construction, industrial development and urban renewal.

Legislative Item

Democrats have set reapportionment of the Legislature as a priority item, should they gain control of both houses. That would trim rural legislative power to fit population.

Consequently, Democrats will be hard put to quiet a rural fear of political extermination for the benefit of the cities, especially if the GOP hammers the big city theme.

The arithmetic in the rural-urban face-off centers on whether big city margins can offset rural margins. Pennsylvania has 42 counties with more rural than urban population, according to census figures. All but a handful are under lopsided GOP control.

Rural Population

Another 11 counties have more than 40 per cent rural population and six more have over 30 per cent rural population.

Against that the Democrats hope to pit a quarter-million vote margin from Philadelphia, perhaps 50,000 from Allegheny County and varying margins from other Democratic regions, such as Lackawanna and Westmoreland counties.

But Democratic chances might well hinge on how much of the rural vote can be neutralized by Democratic regions, such as Lackawanna and Westmoreland counties.

Votes May Hinge

But Democratic chances might

Polio Cases Rose Sharply Last Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sharp rise in polio cases was reported last week, the Public Health Service said Friday.

There were 95 cases listed, 69 of them paralytic, as compared with 49 cases of which 39 were paralytic in the preceding week which ended July 9.

From Jan. 1 through July 16 there had been 457 paralytic cases reported by the states, compared with 969 at this time in 1959 and 437 in 1958.

Rhode Island with 24 new polio cases, and California and South Carolina with 12 each accounted for one more than half of last week's state total. The paralytic cases in these states totaled 37, also more than half the national count.

BILL DANA IS SET FOR ROLE IN NEW COMEDY

By JAMES BACON

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—One of television's new comics, Bill (My Name Is Jose Jimenez) Dana, gets promoted to producer next month.

Dana was the spurious but hilarious webback with Steve Allen's stock company last season. Dana, a genuine funnyman, got lots of laughs by just announcing his name in the plaintive style of a Mexican peon.

Much of his comic forte was transposing the J's and H's of a la Espanol. For instance, he described Israel as a country where "the Jewish people speak Hebrew."

Allen Off Air

The Allen show is no more, but Dana, once a top comedy writer, will mastermind the new Spike Jones TV show. He will recreate Jose Jimenez for Spike.

"I am jappy to say that the boss likes him," says Jose of Bill the producer.

Dana has an album out of his spots of the Allen show. It proves that a genuine funnyman needs no clever lines to get laughs.

Got Guffaws

The spots, in chronological order, show that Dana got guffaws at the start of the season by saying "My name is Jose Jimenez." By midseason, the laughs came by the time he got to "my name —."

At the windup, laughs came the minute the audience saw his face. It's a type of comedy reminiscent of Joe (Wanna Buy a Duck) Penner.

Quincy Hungarian

Dana, a Hungarian from Quincy Mass., got the idea for Jose in Puerto Rico, not Mexico.

"I met a nice chap down there who told me he was the Dutch representative. I asked: 'Are you a consul general for the Netherlands?'"

"No," he answered. "I am the Dutch representative." I kept pressing him about the Netherlands. Finally, he threw up his arms.

"I am the Dutch representative. You know, Dutch, Chrysler and Plymouth."

well hinge on how much of the rural vote can be neutralized by Democratic sentiment inside the counties themselves.

City margins elected Gov. Lawrence in 1958, but were not enough to turn the state Democratic in 1954. George M. Leader, a chicken farmer, collected a huge statewide margin by carrying more than half the rural counties.

Running for the Senate in 1958, he failed to carry all but a few rural counties. He lost the election by a narrow margin when his big city Democratic support failed to materialize. His opponent, Republican Hugh Scott, was a Philadelphian. Some city support coupled with traditionally Republican rural sentiment was enough to elect him.

Rural area Democrats were apprehensive of Kennedy's nomination last week. But nomination of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson as the vice presidential candidate heartened them. Johnson features the rural approach. Campaign planners may let him carry the ball for the Democratic ticket in the nonurban regions.

At last count, there were 179,000 licensed amateur radio stations in the United States.

NEW EXAMS PLANNED FOR MANY DRIVERS

By FRED B. WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP)—About 200,000 motorists will be affected next winter by the state's new requirement that licensed drivers pass a physical and visual examination before renewing their permits, Traffic Safety Commissioner O.D. Shipley said today.

The group affected generally will be those who first received their licenses prior to 1924. Shipley said, but it is possible some licensed after that period will be involved.

Although plans still are in the formative stage, he added, the state plans to take the 200,000 lowest active plate (registration) numbers for the start of the program.

Some Records Destroyed

"It is possible that this might lap over into the post-1924 period," Shipley said, "but I doubt it."

The 1936 flood, which leaked into the basement of some state office buildings, thwarted the initial intention to start only with those licensed prior to 1924. Many early drivers' records were destroyed. That is why the state has decided to choose the lowest 200,000 registration numbers.

Eventually, all 5½ million licensed drivers will have to pass the new requirements. New applicants for licenses already have to meet the new standards.

Shipley said letters of explanation will be included with the 1961 renewal applications for the 200,000 drivers coming under the program.

"They'll have about two or three months to complete their tests and return their applications to the bureau," Shipley said.

Woman Reporter Says Mamie Is Anxious To Settle Down In Her Home In Gettysburg

For other women, 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D. C., has been the culmination of a lifetime, but under the circumstances, Mamie Eisenhower has never viewed it as anything more than an elegant obstacle. She would clearly prefer to get it over with and settle down at Gettysburg.

The first lady of the White House and the nation, Mamie Eisenhower, wants a home—a permanent home after 35 years and 35 or more different homes with her husband, says reporter Elaine Shepard in the August issue of Better Homes and Gardens magazine.

Mrs. Arthur Summerfield, wife of the postmaster general and one of the Eisenhower's close friends, recently summed up Mrs. Eisenhower's ambition: "What could be more thrilling for any woman than to move into the first home she's ever owned and arrange treasures gathered from all over the world?"

"Frantic Experience" Therein lies Mamie's motivation, says the magazine. She doesn't want to escape from Washington so much as she wants to reach Gettysburg. After living in so many odd quarters in so many different parts of the world that even the White House can be taken in stride ("I've lived in everything but an igloo," she has said), she's anxious to settle down in her own quiet home.

However, as any woman can easily imagine, being first lady of the six-story White House could be a frantic experience.

In addition to 107 rooms and 16 baths, there are 18,964 pieces of china, glass and silver to keep clean (it takes a gallon of silver polish a week); a laundry, three elevators, and a putting green to maintain; never fewer than 1,000 letters that need answering every week; a seemingly endless procession of functions to make preparations for—everything from luncheons and launchings to bazaars and full-dress banquets; 600,000 visitors a year tracking mud all over the carpets; and, among countless other duties, and a sneaky as such things can be reckoned, at least 5,000 eager right hands to shake warmly every month.

First "Own Home" Nevertheless, like previous First Ladies, Mamie wants to leave the White House. First, her health has never been robust, and retirement will be less hectic. Second, she'll see more of her husband. And third, she'll have her first "own home."

Mamie's "homes" with Ike began with a succession of flimsy wooden barracks and run-down cubbyholes, ant-infested jungle huts and drafty French mausoleums like mansions, and finally the White House. Regardless of where Mamie and her lieutenant made their home, the First Lady always worked with the furnishings and accessories she had at hand, and turned even a wooden barracks into a warm well-managed home.

In Camp Meade, Md., on one of Ike's earlier assignments, the Eisenhowers found only a "barn-like building to locate in, for which no furniture was supplied. Mamie tried her best to convert packing cases into tables and benches by covering them with cretonne. Then she made ruffles for their army cots, installed an oil stove in an unused shower, and cheerfully called the result home.

Accepts Challenge Finding herself ensconced at Ft. Logan, Colo., in a house with 16-foot ceilings, Mamie was less distressed than the average housewife might have been. The dimensions of this bare, immense structure presented something of a challenge, but Mamie was up to it. She simply suspended gay Japanese parasols upside down from the ceiling.

The gentleman's agreement by which the Fine Arts Commission has the authority to decorate the main public rooms of the White House confines Mamie's handiwork to parts of the building the public doesn't see. Mrs. Ike, however, has kept her decorating ability working steadily.

Mrs. Truman's small corner bedroom, for example, was long ago converted to a dressing room, and shortly afterward, the sitting room next to it became another bedroom. Mamie acquired Margaret Truman's old draperies, which matched her big pink bed, and the master bedroom was repainted green, also at the First Lady's request.

Talents Not Restricted Nor have her decorating and homemaking talents been restricted to the White House. The vacation cottage provided the Eisenhowers by the Augusta National Golf Course, and even Ike's airplane, Columbine II, reflect her distinctive touch.

Even before rising in the morning, Mamie consults with her housekeeper, plans state dinners with her maitre d'hotel, or dictates to her personal secretary. "Popped up on the rose-colored ribbon in her hair Mamie resembles nothing so much as the last bonbon in the box," says reporter Shepard.

Mamie runs the Pennsylvania Avenue household, as she has all her homes, fastidiously. According to one of the butlers on the staff, "Mrs. Eisenhower knows every single thing that goes on in the house—who's here, what they are doing, and why." As one friend has commented, "Whoever occupies the White House in 1961 will find it shipshape from attic to cellar."

How much of this impressive domestic activity merely disguises Mamie's loneliness during her husband's frequent absences, and how much more of it is simply an effort to work off her impatience to reach Gettysburg, only Mamie can say. But whatever the cause, she's seldom idle.

When her downstairs rooms are being overrun by thousands of tourists, she is apt to be found in the pantry ordering groceries (she personally oversees every White House menu, indulging in the female prerogative of long-winded telephone conversations, or practicing on her electric organ, one of the pieces now in the White House that will go with the Eisenhowers to Gettysburg.

"Of course she'll be glad to leave the White House," one of her servants said, "Who in her position wouldn't be? But I've been here for 20 years, and she's my favorite. It will grieve me to see her go."

40-8 OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania 40 and 8 Society wound up its annual convention by electing J. Jacob Hobaugh of Ford City as grand chef de gare and voting to stand pat on the "male white only" provision of its constitution.

The fun organization was suspended from the American Legion last year because of the clause. Joseph Robbins, grand correspondent, said Friday that the "40 and 8's position as far as Pennsylvania is concerned is not based on ethical or moral considerations" of the question of race requirements of its members.

Robbins added that the vote to retain the clause carried about 3-1. Other new officers: Arthur Y. Miller, Philadelphia, grand chef de train; Herbert Harmon, Montgomery, grand commissaire; Harry Koenig, Pottsville, cheminot nationale; Victor E. Orn, Cory, alternate cheminot nationale, and Frank D. Bowman of Punxsutawney, James H. McMurry of St. Mary's and Harry E. Edelhoff of Luzerne, grand cheminots.

More Than 200,000 Acres Of Western Land Is Afire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More than 200,000 acres of the West's most rugged land was ablaze today. Thousands of men battled the flames. Five died in the process.

Lightning, and in some cases man himself, was responsible for the fires that caused damage in the millions of dollars and cost more millions to fight. In California alone, the loss was some 10 million dollars.

A note of cautious optimism, tempered by a 50-50 chance for more lightning in the pivotal point where Oregon, Idaho and Washington meet, crept into official reports. Temperatures were in the 90s. The fire outbreak was described as the worst in 30 years.

68,000 Acres Charred
The dead included two-man crews of two World War II bombers converted for borate-bombing runs over the fires and another pilot killed making a water drop over a British Columbia fire. One B26 crashed in eastern Oregon and the other in Southern California.

More than 68,000 acres of Angeles National Forest lay charred, but fires slowed from their swift pace of previous days. The worst remaining was the Bootlegger Canyon fire on the east flank of the Magic Mountain fire.

A 46,000-acre northern California brush fire was stopped shy of San Simeon Castle, former home of the late William Randolph Hearst and now a state park, but approached within 10 miles of Paso Robles.

30 New Blazes
Lightning swept through Montana, leaving 30 new fires behind. Lt. Gov. Paul Cannon alerted the Montana National Guard to stand by as 20,000 acres burned. The blazes were in rugged terrain near Helena and Lewistown.

Some 900 men held their fire lines on 10,000 acres of burning forest in western Idaho near Idaho City, but another 9,000 acres of Payette National Forest timber burned unchecked.

Some 23,000 acres in the Wallowa-Whitman National Forest in Oregon and Washington burned. Some 4,000 men fought some 200 blazes, many out of control and some even unmanned.

CHAMP HAS CLOSE CALL

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bob Batdorf, the defending champion, barely made the grade for today's semifinals of the Pennsylvania Amateur golf championship.

The Reading golfer rallied from four holes behind Friday to defeat Walter Graff Jr., of Torresdale, 1 up. Batdorf, who plays out of Hershey Country Club, meets Bill Gabal, of Pittsburgh, in the semifinal.

Harvey Smith, of Oak Terrace, and Jimmy Sykes, of Philadelphia play in the other semifinal. Smith came from three holes behind to defeat John Guenther Jr., of Reading, the current State Open champion, on the 20th hole. Then he took Bob Reilly, of Pittsburgh Highland, 5 and 4, in the quarter-final.

Batdorf defeated the man he turned back in last year's final, Fred Paine, of Oakmont Country Club, Pittsburgh, 4 and 3, before he defeated Graff.

In the two rounds Friday, Sykes defeated Steve Savor, of Alcoma, on the 19th hole, then eliminated James Curti, of Pittsburgh, 4 and 3. Gabel edged Tom Conboy, of White Marsh Valley, on the 19th, then eliminated George Henne, of Waukegan, 1 up.

TOP SWIMMING STARS SMASH WORLD MARKS

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — More records were certain to go tumbling today as the nation's top young stars swung into the second day of the AAU National Men's Swimming and Diving Championships.

There were three swimming events Friday and new records are up for acceptance in all of them. That acceptance is a mere formality.

Diving competition, always one of this country's strong points in the Olympic Games, was an overwhelming triumph for Mike Peppe's team from Ohio State.

But the big surprise came in the swimming events — the 100-meter freestyle, where Jif Farrell hung up a new American record for recognition, the 400-meter individual medley in which Dennis Rounsaville bettered the world mark, and the 1,500-meter freestyle, where George Breen lowered his Olympic record time.

Rounsaville, a Southern California junior who will be 20 next month, splashed home in a blazing 5:04.5 in the 400-meter medley. That's more than four seconds under the world record set last year by Scotland's Ian Black.

Farrell, a two-time winner in the AAU meet last year, lowered the American standard with a 54.8 time in the 100-meter freestyle. Jon Henricks' 55.7 mark is the current accepted record.

Breen, 25, streaked home a winner in record time in the 1,500-meter freestyle. His 17:33.5 was 18.5 seconds under his own Olympic record set in 1956.

Sam Hall, who was graduated in June from Ohio State, scored 477.60 points in the three-meter diving OSU teammate Don Harper, the defending champion, was second.

The first-day record breaking caused Dr. Harold Henning to say, "The swimming and diving team that the United States will send to Rome this summer will be much stronger than any of us expected."

Dr. Henning is chairman of the Men's AAU Swimming Committee.

51,609 Lives Are Saved At Atlantic City By Crack Patrol In Forty Years

ATLANTIC CITY—If Richard W. Hughes, chief of the Atlantic City Beach Patrol, wore a medal for every life he saved . . . he'd look armor-plated. During the last forty years, he has saved 51,609 lives!

In China a person whose life has been saved dedicates himself to the rescuer. Things are different in the U. S. . . and fortunately Chief Hughes isn't trailed by 51,609 willing slaves. It might interfere with his work.

Chief Hughes supervises the largest task force of professional lifeguards on one beach in the world.

Crack Beach Patrol

At Atlantic City, on a sizzling Sunday, the gentleman plays host to 200,000 . . . count 'em . . . bathers, with a seasonal figure that soars to ten million.

His patrol is as well disciplined as a crack army platoon. Chief Hughes insists on the highest standards from his men, for their skill spells life or death for the floundering swimmer.

This superbly trained troop of lifeguards is a sharp contrast to the patrol of yesteryear.

During the mid-nineteenth century, men in tank suits that flowed from wrist to ankle jammed Atlantic City. Their spouses wore a similar garment . . . plus floppy skirts modestly veiling the ankle. With the weight of these wet woolen garments, the traffic in wading swimmers must have been brisk.

Unusual Lifeguards

Policemen on beach duty served as lifeguards. Later, local fishermen, using boats, took over . . . the theory perhaps being that if they could haul in flounder, they could haul in flounders.

Then the railroads, seeking to increase passenger service, brought special trains to the beach. While the customers bathed, trainmen slipped into their bathing suits and snapped to attention as lifeguards.

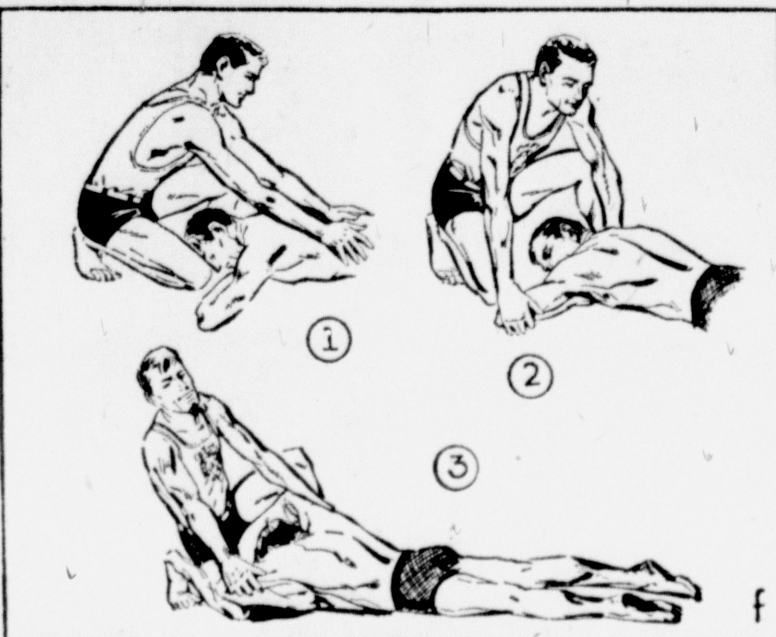

The trains brought such hordes that a Volunteer Corps was formed. They received no pay—but passed the hat after each rescue. The victim, too, contributed . . . and every hand-lebar-mustached lifeguard dreamed of rescuing a drowning millionaire . . . and being suitably rewarded.

Severe Resuscitation

To bring in a floundering swimmer, the lifeguard dragged with him a life preserver, attached to a line that stretched from a large spool on the beach.

When the lifeguards got the victim beached, the exhausted swimmer's ordeal had merely begun. There were several accepted methods of resuscitation . . . all grueling.

The draped victim across a

Chief Hughes has improved upon the Neilsen method of artificial respiration for drowning victims. Used by members of his Atlantic City Beach Patrol it's a technique everyone should master. Fig. 1: Victim in a face-down, prone position with elbows folded and hands supporting head. Tongue must not block air passage. Operator kneels at head of victim and places hands on victim's back—between shoulder blades and small of back. Slow pressure is applied by rocking forward with weight on arms. Fig. 2: Pressure is slowly released; operator rocks backward and places hands on subject's arms above the elbows. Fig. 3: Operator draws victim's arms upward—applying enough lift to feel resistance and tension at subject's shoulders. Arms are lowered. This cycle should be repeated 12 times a minute at a steady rate until subject is revived or professional help arrives.

horse, like a sack of oats . . . and trotted the horse. Or they might stretch him on the sand, pound his bare feet with clubs. Perhaps the lifeguards got the swimmer "over a barrel" . . . and rolled it back and forth.

Today, the Atlantic City beach patrol uses the resuscitation method of Holgar Neilsen, a Danish swimming instructor.

"Fascinating Reactions"

The sufferer is placed prone, face down, arm outstretched, elbows bent and hands at head. The operator kneels in front of the victim's head and places his hands on the lower part of the shoulder blades.

He presses for a count of two, grasps the victim's elbows and raises them 10 inches. Another count of two. The procedure continues until the person revives.

Patients have fascinating reactions. Some come out fighting—believing they are still thrashing about in the sea. Others relate odd last thoughts. The belief that a dying man sees his life flash before him isn't true.

Some, however, have guilty flashes of childhood events—hurling pets, swiping cookies. Others hear sweet music and see glowing lights.

"Helpless Panic"

Many are aware that artificial respiration is being applied—without having the power to move or cry out. They lie in a helpless panic and pray the operator will keep working. This is why Chief Hughes demands that artificial respiration be applied for a full hour.

The experienced swimmer has a healthy respect for the power of the sea. He knows the mighty impact of swirling surf, the irresistible suction of backwash.

This season an estimated 7,000 American swimmers will lose their lives. Chief Hughes offers a few suggestions that may help have yours.

"After your hot dog, don't go into the water for 90 minutes. If you're tired, postpone your swim for another day—swimming safely takes plenty of energy. At no time should you dive from a friend's shoulders—this kind of horseplay may be fun, but it's deadly dangerous."

"Call A Lifeguard"

This expert in water safety further warns against attempting to help the swimmer in trouble—if you spot a floundering person, call the nearest lifeguard.

Don't bask too long in the sun before your swim. If your body is too hot and the water too cold, you may be overcome by shock.

When you're in the mood for a long, vigorous swim, don't strike out for Liverpool. Push beyond the rough surf and swim parallel to shore. To pass rough surf, dive right into it. You will avoid the backwash, or downward suction, by hesitating several seconds before surfacing.

If you find yourself in a current pulling you out to sea, don't try to buck it. Swim to one side for 15 feet and you'll be out of it. When you wade, turn your hip to break the surf rather than letting it hit you front-on.

The sea can be an enchanting friend that provides pleasure and relaxation the summer through. But it can also be a treacherous enemy, if you don't understand its caprices.

Swim with caution and you'll always swim with pleasure.

ROLLING ALONG

CORTEZ, Colo. (AP)—A local woman was fined $5 for running through a red light. Her reason: She had rolls in the oven.

Motorists literally are driving themselves to death.

"Too often they're ignoring traffic signs and signals, which are designed for their protection," Jack C. Trimble, head of the National Safety Council's Signs of Life program, asserted today.

Trimble emphasized that the sole purpose of traffic signs, signals, pavement markings and other devices is to state the law, to warn of hazards and to give assistance and protection to all street and highway users.

He cited these facts:

1. One out of 10 drivers in a fatal traffic accident fails to keep to the right of the center line.

2. One out of 7 ignores stop or warning signs, passes improperly or does not have right-of-way.

3. Three out of 10 drivers in fatal traffic accidents exceed speed limits or safe speeds.

Trimble said these and other facts on auto accidents, including those involving cars and trains, are contained in the annual report on the Signs of Life program by the council's railroad-highway traffic safety committee.

"Drivers," he asserted, "continue to get killed or hurt because too often they disobey, don't see, ignore or don't understand traffic signs, signals and pavement markings."

He said the Signs of Life program has been especially valuable in preventing highway-rail crossing accidents.

"Steady education by the program, better crossing protection and improved enforcement of traffic laws—that and cooperation from drivers, of course—have combined to pull down the number of motor vehicle-train crashes," he said.

What are the causes of highway-rail accidents?

Coming up to the crossing too fast to stop, being too familiar with a railroad crossing, speeding at night, starting up too soon after a train has passed, ignoring warning signs and signals, and driving after drinking.

Trimble urged motorists to learn the six basic traffic signs to prevent traffic accidents of all kinds:

1. Round . . . yellow with black "X" or "RR" means highway-railroad intersection ahead.

2. Crossbuck . . . the traditional symbol at highway-rail intersections, is white with black lettering.

3. Octagon . . . red with white lettering. Means come to a full stop and be sure the way is clear before proceeding. Replaces older yellow sign with black lettering.

4. Triangle . . . yellow with black letters reading "Yield Right of Way." Means what it says—slow down at intersections. Stop if necessary.

5. Diamond . . . yellow with black lettering or symbol. Warns of dangerous or unusual conditions ahead—curve, side road, intersection, hill or school zone.

6. Rectangle . . . white with

Cookouts Add To Family Fun On Holidays Or Any Other Day

By MRS. HELEN TUNISON
Home Economist

As summer draws nearer, and the warm sun and cool rains bring buds, bulbs and seeds into bloom, many families get the idea of cooking out. Cookouts may be as simple as hot dogs roasted on a stick over a small fire or the more elaborate preparations necessary for a chicken barbecue. Why not have a July 4th barbecue this year? Here are some simple instructions for a family chicken barbecue planned for ten halves of chicken.

MRS. TUNISON

To make a family barbecue pit you need 18 8x8x16" cinder blocks. Lay blocks two tiers high with all sides enclosed. The pit (outside dimensions) should be 4' long, 3'4" wide. Use a piece of hardware cloth 1/2" mesh 3'x4' for over the top. Some families have old oven or refrigerator racks or shelves which may be used.

Start a fire about two hours before serving time. Use 10 to 15 lbs. of charcoal briquettes. Allow fire to burn 15 to 20 minutes before spreading. Briquettes will be powdery white when ready to spread.

Size Of Chicken

The best chickens for barbecue are 2 1/4 to 2 1/2 pounds ready to cook. Halves should weigh 1 to 1 1/4 lbs. Place chicken on wire with bone side down.

Barbecue sauce, enough for 10 chicken halves: 1/2 pint water; 1 pint vinegar (dilute if very strong); 1/2 lb. butter; 2 table-spoons salt. Mix and heat sauce, keep warm. Turn chicken and apply sauce every two to four minutes. This keeps chicken from drying out. Use tongs or asbestos gloves to turn chicken. Well-done chicken should be served. Allow approximately 1 1/2 hours to cook. To test for doneness, grasp thigh and twist leg bone. Also twist wing. The bones move and part easily when chicken is well-done. Be sure heavy meaty areas where the wing is attached are well done.

With a chicken barbecue, why not serve baked beans or potato salad, a slaw or lettuce and tomato salad, potato chips, relish dish, rolls, pie or cake and milk or iced tea for all. Use paper plates and cups to save the dish washing.

For more information about chicken barbecues for a crowd, contact your local extension office.

Other Suggestions

Cookouts that take less work can be just as tasty as a barbecue. In most cases, the simplest fire-place made from stones, brick or cement blocks and a rock over the top will do. However, if the family owns a charcoal grill, make use of that.

A delicious Sunday supper meal might be grilled hamburgers and hot dogs made over your fireplace or grill. Make surprise burgers by shaping hamburger around a chunk of cheese or a slice formed into quarters. Makes a luscious cheeseburger—cheese inside. For coffee lovers, a pot of coffee (use the old aluminum perk kind) can be prepared at the same time. Serve family favorites, macaroni or potato salad, baked beans, tomatoes, pickles and hard cooked eggs and a cold fruit drink.

Where you cook out, plan a space on which to place pans, forks and spoons and casserole dishes where they won't get knocked over or sampled by the family dog.

Where Were The Wright Sisters, Mrs. Magellan?

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—A company that makes kitchen equipment is now experimenting with a refrigerator for "dining in space," according to a company release.

Obviously, this is a sneaky step toward recruiting women guinea pigs into nose cones or whatever it is that space passengers will ride in to the moon. It is known as the gracious living gambit.

The scientists along have been aware that women are infinitely better adapted to spacecraft than men. We handle monotony better, probably through practice. We also have better cushioning in strategic places. In fact, we have everything except the impulse to pioneer.

Dining Is Different

Where were the Wright sisters when the brothers were at Kitty Hawk? Where was Mrs. Magellan when her husband was in desperate straits in South America? Where was Mrs. Ponce de Leon when her spouse was taking the waters in Florida?

No, when the ladies pioneered, it's to rustle up some vittles for the men folk and keep them out of trouble.

Everybody knows that the human male can go on indefinitely, when left on his own, opening, heating and eating out of cans.

One would not be so suspicious if the kitchen equipment company were making refrigerators for "eating" in space. It's that "dining" that blows the plot.

Dining is different from eating. Dining means a lace tablecloth, lighted candles and fancy food—preferably a casserole dish for which women guests will ask the recipe.

NEWPORT'S MALL NAMED EISENHOWER

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—They sat there in the park in the lazy July sun—the ruddy-faced man and his wife with the twinkling eyes.

They were two among 1,000 or so, listening to Henry Wilkinson who used to be mayor of this one-time capital of Rhode Island. In the background was the Newport County Courthouse and just across the way was the historic State House, now a museum.

In front and a bit to the right of the smiling man and his wife, who was smiling too, was a file and drum corps of youngsters—all of them smartly uniformed in bright red jackets, white breeches, black leggings and tricornered hats.

The former mayor, kindly Mr. Wilkinson, was talking—and the ruddy-faced man and his wife eased to the edge of their chairs, the better to hear.

Cites Washington

Mr. Wilkinson was noting that the small park in Washington Square—right where all this was going on—was being named for an important man. For many years the park had simply been called The Mall. Now that was being changed. And Mr. Wilkinson was telling why.

He was saying that this nation's first president, George Washington, was known as first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen.

And he was saying, too, that the important man being honored Friday afternoon—the man after whom the park was being named—also is, in a modern way, "first and foremost" in peace and in the hearts of his countrymen.

Named For President

Then the important man got up—the man for whom they were naming the park. The crowd applauded. He smiled a big smile. And then he said:

"I am deeply touched by this kind of gracious incident and thought."

He went on to say something about having a "rather long and unusual name," and he wondered whether future generations would wonder why in the world the little park has been named for him.

A moment later the ruddy-faced man and his wife—Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of the United States, and his wife, Mamie, drove off.

Littlestown

LITTLESTOWN — The annual family picnic was announced at the monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Mason and Dixon Memorial VFW Post Thursday evening at the post home, W. King St. It will be held August 11 at 6:30 p.m. at Reigle's Cottage, near East Berlin. Each family will take table service and a covered dish food. Meat and rolls will be furnished.

Mrs. Martha Kuhns, president, presided at the session. Mrs. Ruth Dooley, secretary, reported. Miss Helen Jacobs and Mrs. Mildred Weaver reported on the annual state convention held last week in Harrisburg. A hobo luncheon was served.

Members of the Alpha Fire Company are asked to be at the community playground Monday evening to set up stands for the carnival and 75th anniversary observance to be held August 1-6.

The monthly meeting of the firemen will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the engine house. The evening's social committee includes Joseph H. Redding, Charles W. Randall and Clark Fuhrman.

A formal meeting of Explorer Post 84 will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the meeting room at the E. King St. school building. The boys will attend in uniform. On Tuesday at 5:45 p.m., the Explorers will go to the Hoffman Orphanage to play softball.

In listing the Littlestown Lions Club committees along with the account of the meeting in Friday's Times, the following committee was unintentionally omitted: Lions Information, Harold O. Sentz and Ralph L. Staley.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two men swapped jobs for a short time Thursday and it meant a difference of 115 degrees temperature for them.

Albert Gray estimated it was 115 degrees atop a building where he was working as a roofer. Frank Chack worked inside, in a frozen foods room, temperature zero.

In 1781 Duncan Phyfe, one of the most famous of American furniture makers, set up a shop in New York. Furniture and furnishings manufacturing today is big business—as shown by the fact that over $11½ million worth of national advertising was placed in newspapers in 1958.

Russian Spy Charges Are Called "Lie, Piratical And Criminal" By Ambassador

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States promised to expose as a lie Soviet charges a U.S. reconnaissance plane was on a spy mission when it was shot down by a Soviet fighter July 1.

U.S. chief delegate Henry Cabot Lodge served notice Friday night he would have a "great deal" to say when the United Nations Security Council meets again Monday over the shooting incident which he described as "criminal and piratical."

Lodge blasted Soviet charges as a "sinister fabrication" at Friday's Council session highlighted by the presence of the wives of the plane's crew.

Red Files Charge

He spoke after Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov told the 11-nation Council the United States had sent the plane into Soviet air space "to detect the system of radar stations and other military objectives" in the Soviet Union.

Kuznetsov demanded in a resolution that the Council condemn "these continuing provocative actions" by the U.S. Air Force, label them by "aggressive acts," and insist that the United States "take immediate steps to put an end to such actions." The resolution was not expected to pass.

Lodge declared that at no time during the flight was the RB47 closer than 30 miles from the Soviet coast.

Other Red Charges

Kuznetsov quoted the two surviving crewmen as saying they were instructed not to maintain radio communication with their base in Brize Norton, England.

"Since the RB47 did not communicate with its coordinates," he said, "the question arises as to the grounds on which the version was invented that this plane allegedly did not intrude inside the Soviet Union."

The Soviet envoy said the crewmen—Lt. John Richard McKone, Tonganogian, Kan., navigator, and Lt. Freeman B. Olmstead, Elmira, N.Y., copilot—testified that the plane was part of "an air unit of the American military strategic intelligence belonging to Wing 55, and was carrying out a special mission of a military intelligence nature."

Kuznetsov said "The Soviet court will try lieutenants McKone and Olmstead with the full severity of Soviet law."

TIPSY BRUINS ROCK 'N' ROLL

TRENT, Italy (AP)—Woodsmen near this Alpine town are still talking about the wildest bear dance since Salome shed the seventh veil.

It had every right to be a wing-ding—the two performing bears lapped up the better part of 250 quarts of wine between them.

Anyway you want to look at bears or wine, that's a skin-fell.

Checks Habits

Prof. Peter Krotz, custodian of the animals, has been here for some time keeping tabs on their habits, all for the sake of science.

But the two bears sneaked out on the professor a couple of nights ago—and woodsman of Lares in the valley of Genoa, near Trent, tell the rest of the tale:

The two prowlers raided a temporarily abandoned Alpine camp and ate their fill of sausage and other stored supplies.

Then they found, upturned and opened, five 50-quart demijohns of north Italian wine and got a jag-sized snuff.

The two bears reared up on their hind legs and tried every-

GEN EDWARD HAND, M.D.

This week, due to several requests, the historical and genealogical study of the Upper Low Dutch Graveyard of the Cone-wago will be discontinued for several more weeks in order that special columns may be included in this series containing data requested by Times readers.

About a month ago a brief article on "Rockford," the home of Gen. Edward Hand near Lancaster, Pa., was published in the Sunday edition of The Philadelphia Inquirer. Just enough information was given to "whet the appetite" of the reader but some interest was "stirred up," hence this column.

In the old walled burial ground of St. James Episcopal Church at Lancaster tombstones containing the following inscriptions can be found in the Hand-Yeates-Brien family burial plot.

1. "Sacred to the memory of John, son of Edward and Katharine Hand, born at Philadelphia, March, 1782, and died at Rockford, November 1807 in his 26 years."

Tragic Death

Note: The son of Gen. Edward Hand and his wife Katharine Ewing, whose death was a tragedy for his entire family. There will be additional data pertaining to John Hand given later in this column.

2. "Katherine Hand, wife of Edward Hand, died June 21st, 1805, aged 54 years."

Note: Katherine Ewing, who was married to Edward Hand on March 13, 1775, at Lancaster, Pa. The priest at St. James Episcopal Church performed the ceremony.

3. "Edw. Hand, M.D. A general officer of the Revolution. The friend and companion in arms of Washington, born at Clydruff, in Ireland, Dec. 31st, A.D., 1744. Died at Rockford, in Lancaster County, September 3rd, A.D., 1802. His public services are part of his country's history. He came to Pennsylvania in 1767, and settled in Lancaster in 1774."

Note: More detailed information will be given on General Hand further in this article.

Wed Into Old Family

4. "In memory of Katherine Hand, Died April 14, 1791, aged 12 years, 4 months. Also, Margaret Hand, Died at Rockford, 1800, in the 11th year of her age."

Note: Two of the four daughters of General Edward and Katharine (Ewing) Hand, who died in childhood.

From the records of the family of Edward Shippen, of Lancaster, taken from himself, by Jasper Yeates, now on file in the Lancaster County Historical Society, the following data on the Hand family was taken. General Hand married into one of the oldest and most outstanding families in Pennsylvania. It is not necessary to mention here the part played in the development of the Keystone state by members of the Shippen and Yeates family. Their names are enshrined in the annals of Pennsylvania history.

thing from the Charleston to rock 'n' roll.

Sarah Hand, the eldest daughter of Edward and Katherine (Ewing) Hand, married Edward Brien, Esq. Buried in the Yeates-Hand-Brien family burial plot, are the following members of this family:

1. "Sacred to the memory of Catherine Ewing Brien, daughter of the late Edward Brien. She departed this life August 30th, 1821, aged 6 years."

Note: A granddaughter of General Edward and Katherine (Ewing) Hand, the daughter of Sarah (Hand) Brien, who married Edward Brien, Esq.

The notes on the family and career of Gen. Edward Hand will be continued in this column next week.

FBI Agent Reveals New Strange Laws

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ed Mason, FBI agent-in-charge of the southern Ohio area, tells of these new laws that the FBI has been asked to enforce:

Only one armed persons can carry a switchblade knife across a state line; wild horses cannot be shot from a moving vehicle; it is illegal to transport across a state line a refrigerator that cannot be opened from the inside; and it is illegal to use a replica of Smokey Bear. (Smokey Bear is the insignia of the U. S. Forestry Service.)

CINCINNATI, Ohio, (AP)—Jerome Geter, 18, is not worried too much about criticism at home for getting a speeding ticket.

Geter was charged with driving 33 m.p.h. in a 20 m.p.h. zone. Minutes later police halted his mother, Lucille, 48, and charged her with driving 35 miles an hour in the same zone.

125,000 High School Pupils In Program

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—A total of 368 colleges and universities participated in the American College Testing Program's first year, Jean Paul Mather, ACT president, reports.

More than 125,000 high school students participated.

Mather, who came to ACT from the presidency of the University of Massachusetts, hailed the participation as "amazingly rapid confirmation of the needs met by the program." It tests college-bound high school seniors.

ACT, initiated by an agency of the State University of Iowa, is to be incorporated as an independent, nonprofit agency.

Julius Caesar was born, it is believed, on July 12, 102 B. C.
